an inspirational game

"A fun and exciting game that will reveal the power of your God-given imagination"
Neale Donald Walsch, author of Conversations with God

Conversations General Facilitation Opportunities

What is Conversations?

The Mission of Conversations is to raise the consciousness and awareness of all who play. This is done by self-empowerment and being an example of an abundant and successful organisation through integrity, honesty and fun.

'Conversations: an inspirational game' is an interactive board game designed to develop and enhance all our relationships through genuine dialogue. It reminds us that we all contribute to the wisdom in this world and that YOU have an invaluable contribution to make. This reciprocal process then allows players to discover and become more fully aware of Who You Really Are.

'Conversations' is really like a workshop in a box. As a participant of the game, you get to experience the extra-ordinary. You get to have a real conversation with every person playing; a conversation that you may continue, long after the game has concluded.

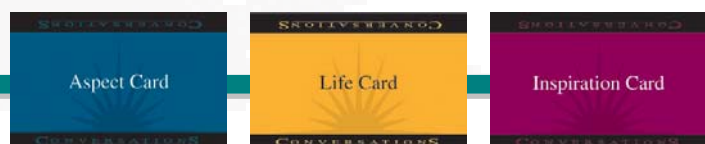

The Purpose of a General facilitator

People who are general facilitators wish to share the message of the game with the rest of the world. This is available for people who wish to play the game with private groups, study groups and various support groups. They do not run games for educational, government and corporate groups as there is extra training and an extra cycle due to the complexity of those organisations.

This game has helped to bring families, friends and strangers closer together. Skills like active listening and honest communication are taught while playing the game. All participants are invited to share their unique insights and to listen openly to the insights of others. As no two games are ever alike, you find that you want to play it again and again. In this non-competitive game, everyone wins!

Since released in September 2004, 'Conversations' has already been played in over 12 countries. This extraordinary game is open to everyone regardless of lifestyles or beliefs and was created from the universal principle that WE ARE ALL ONE. This is your opportunity to be part of this new paradigm in making a real difference on this planet.

"Conversations is an extraordinary experience that I believe everybody deserves the opportunity to participate in." Leanne Synan (Soul Purpose magazine, Australia)

Benefits of a General Facilitator

The simplicity of the facilitation and presentation of “Conversations’ makes it accessible to groups of all sizes. The licensed facilitator can create game events and charge for your time facilitating the game. The licensed facilitator will receive the following benefits:

- Ability to charge for private groups (Recommended at $20 per person)
- 30% discounts on future games
- A facilitator’s guide book outlining how to play the game with more than eight people
- Space on website message board for you to promote your own game events
- Discounts on workshops held for facilitators, Eye Power and other selected workshops
- Individual support on any difficulties that may arise

Just as important, you will be helping to support the process of getting the game out there. The greatest gift with this game is that it gives people the opportunity to experience for themselves what is both written in the wonderful spiritual books and movies. The goal of ‘Conversations’ is to help with the world changes that are occurring and to create a win-win situation for all those involved with the game.

This includes empowering all those who play and supporting those involved with right livelihood. It is about changing individual poverty consciousness into abundance for all. It is the intent that this game be an example of supporting and valuing all those involved on a spiritual and financial level.

Other financial benefits include

- Work for yourself creating increased satisfaction and larger returns
- Receive all income from running game events
- Obtain referrals from a web site that has already sold games to over 12 countries
- On-sell licenses and games to clients and promote other services you offer
- Network with other local, interstate and international facilitators

Why Facilitate Conversations?

It is recommended that ‘Conversations’ be facilitated where there is a larger group or if people have not yet played the game. This is because of the need to re-learn how to have a conversation. This includes active communication and listening skills without the need to interrupt. The role of the general facilitator is to create a safe environment to allow people to communicate to each other from the heart and to allow all participants to share their wisdom.

A key aspect to the General Facilitator is to allow people to share their insights from an “I” perspective rather than global generalisations or telling others what to do. The strength of ‘Conversations’ is that we all learn by sharing our own individual stories rather than trying to “fix” another person. In this way, the wisdom gained from the game is greater than the sum of the individual parts.

" I believe that one of the most wonderful gifts we can give each other is that of real recognition."
Rev Linda Wilson-Hunt (Unity Church, Ashland)

General Facilitation Package

A general facilitation package costs $A1600 and includes the following:

- A one day professional training with Barry Auchetl
- Training manual and proformas to run successful games
- Alternative ways to play Conversations
- An educational set of cards used for families and teenagers
- A licence to facilitate game events for a profit
- 12 copies of Conversations: an inspirational game

This investment would be covered through selling the 12 games or running just 5 events of only 9 people and selling 1 game per event. The cost of being a General Facilitator is deducted if you wish to become a corporate facilitator in the future.

“The game helps draw forth our wisdom and clarity and promotes friendship and loving support within the group playing. The energy is constantly changing and by the end of the game there is a sense of awe, of love, of safety and support. I leave each game feeling deeply connected to those I played with. I love it and believe wherever two or more are gathered there is an opportunity to play Conversations the Game and get talking about LIFE and discover who we truly are. As a member of Humanity's Team and workshop facilitator I will use the game as a tool to create connection. Thank you Barry for this gift to Humanity”. Geraldine Evans (Australian HT Country Coordinator)
